Phyllis loves Kelly
Phyllis Gotlieb
PHYLLIS LOVES KELLY
POETRY BY PHYLLIS GOTLIEB

PHYLLIS LOVES KELLY

PHYLLIS GOTLIEB
PREFACE

Many thanks to Ian Lancashire, Professor of English at the University of Toronto for his keen eye for poetry and speculative fiction, and for his lifelong friendship with Phyllis and me.

Calvin (Kelly) Gotlieb
EDITOR’S NOTE

A few of the originals of Phyllis’s Valentine and birthday poems for Kelly have not survived, and many are without date. Phyllis typed or hand-wrote them on funny cards, letterhead, and note paper. She used picture clippings and dingbats ornaments, and her poems took many forms. The first poem, for example, links 18 little children’s cards on a red cloth chain shaped like a bow with hearts. Three of her already published love poems, included here, show Phyllis’s flair and wit as a modern poet writing for a cultured audience she did not know, but the rest are occasional poems, addressed to one person, telling a lifelong love story.

In the design of this book we have endeavoured, where possible, to recreate the physical appearance of Phyllis’s poems. We sought out long-forgotten dingbat fonts, replicated little sketches, and on occasion allowed the paper and the typeface to tell us when a poem had been written. Normally we chose a poem’s first line for a title when Phyllis began only with a salutation.

Ian Lancashire
Toronto 21.01.2014
CONTENTS

PRELUDES

3 I searched the racks of Valentines
5 While I was hanging around waiting for Cupid

1960S

9 It’s surely not a dreadful fate
10 Don’t like rakish?
11 At 42 the drift
12 FIRST PERSON DEMONSTRATIVE
13 It’s nice 14 Bony fingers
15 O it’s a speeding kiss

1970S

19 A BIRTHDAY FLIES
20 The Usual
21 Tonight as ever
22 A Valentine’s a love-shaped thought 23 No need to tell it
24 This is the Ancient Order of the heart 25 well love, you got it or not 26 i thought I saw a Slice of Life
27 May your days be mainly sunny
28 Why ring the changes on a rhyme
29 this is a leaf from a book
30 Roses seem to wither 31 Dear, when you ride a toboggan

INTERLUDE

35 Great Valentines Through The Ages
Cleopatra to Antony
Heloise to Abelard
Stella to Swift
Elizabeth to Raleigh
Elizabeth Barrett to R. Browning
Me to You
37 Suitable Limericks
1980s

41 Although we have no lordly [crest]
42 We may be frazzled, dizzy, dazed 43 When every verse is tried and trite
44 Valentine Cowboy
45 Dear Kelly, I wish you free from Cares
46 O Valentine, O Valentine
47 A Valentine's theme may be raveled and worn 48 A few thought-I-saws and a lot of love 49 I went to find a rebus
50 My dear, I hope this Valentine 51 New love is 52 Twenty-seven Views of Forty Years

1990s

55 Dear Love, I have run out of rhymes 56 Slipping years are little measures of an 57 HAPPY HAPPY
58 Rocky Valentine
59 UNIVERSAL VALENTINE
60 Seventy-two 61 V is the initial of your Virtues
62 Heart O' Mine: a Soft-Shoe shuffle
63 Easy Aces
64 Slipping years are little measures on an 65 What is there left to say after so much time 66 One More Soft Shoe
67 All of my rhymes
68 How do I love you? more 69 77
70 I loVe you better than the stars and the sun because you keep me 71 SEVENTY-EIGHT IS 72 As long as I love you
73 May your days be mainly sunny
2000s

77  A song
78  For the Giver
79  What? You’re 81 years old?
80  LOVE UNLIMITED AND UNINCORPORATED
81  Every year
82  If sweet was sour and salt was sweet 83  Your blue eyes will turn brown
84  I spent hours
85  My love when with you or apart
86  If all the world was good as gold 87  I may not have much poetry left for you but I still have lots 88  With years my poems flew away

ENCORES

ACROSTICS
91  Any fool can love in spring and summer 92  C is for caring and

HAiku
93  Three Haiku
94  One fresh year coming

PARODY
95  Dear Sir

RIDDLE
96  A gift

EPILOGUE

BY CALVIN (KELLY) GOTLIEB
97  Kelly Loves Phyllis in Six Weeks and Sixty Years

FROM HER HAND

iii  Don’t like rakish?
    Dear Kelly, I wish
    A birthday flies
iv  Although we have no lordly [crest] vi  This is the Ancient Order of the heart
FROM HER HAND
Don't like yakish? Don't like sporty? Don't like fat? And don't like warty? When it's all that rhymes with forty? over

Cheer up! Think of dreams cloudspun and summers running in the sun and trees and flowers and all the fun We'll have with rhymes for forty-one! You and me

For Father's Day
Dear Kelly, I wish you free from cares And forty thousand silver hairs To match an Eighty and Ninety Years Of Beers and Cheers, not Tears and Fears Of Warming and Wit and Life and lots Of Fat red Hearts and Gold (in Pots) Rainbows and Moons and Shiny Cars Computers, multicoloured Stars And everything you love and Praise For sixty-two more FATHER'S DAYS

Cookies

[1961]

CANADIAN NATIONAL - CANADIAN PACIFIC TELECOMMUNICATIONS

QJE930
QJE931 (261654)
CN TMC504 NL CMF FD TORONTO ONT 2S
DR C C BOSTON
SKYLINE HOTEL OTTAWA ONT

GT
A BIRTHDAY FLIES THE YEARS TELL LIES WHAT NEVER DIES IS PEMA LOVE

PHILLIS

[1972]
A Valentine for Kelly

Although we have no lordly

I find no cause to grieve

I'd crown your head with red, if I had some to weave.

Till you can count upon my love.
AND WHATSOEVER ROAD YOU GO, I'M WITH YOU.
HANDED IN

BECAUSE I THINK YOU'RE NICE AS IN PROSE AS WELL AS RHYME.

AND SO I'LL BLOW THE
FOR YOU,

UNTIL THE END OF

FROM (K)22
PRELUDES
I searched the racks of Valentines
In rigid regimental Lines

In heaps & piles
In ranks & files
In portents & in signs

With throbbing hearts
Cupids' darts Wishes & fishes
In golden dishes

Bows & arrows
& Sceptured Pharaohs

And as I cringed at drip & drivel
I felt my heart turn crisp and Shrivelled

Nearly loony
With the croony
Of the tuny Juny moony

Oven-simple Deep as a dimple

And the sick, and the insulting And revolting Sent me bolting, Till, exulting—

I cried, Hell!
I’ll tell
My love with a Yell!

Without the dove
The stars above,
The flowers & fuzz Because
It’s hot as a stove Spiced as a Clove Rich as a Croesus
And golden fleeces

Sharp as a pin Jealous as sin and Intoxicating as gin

Sweet as rain
On the parching grain Complex as the human brain

Varicoloured in depth & stratum Binding as the force of an atom

Early & late straight as a datum Fanciful as a quote verbatim And final as an ultimatum!

In short, dear, anything but trivial Even to celebrate the Convivial

Even if what I write is doggerel My love is fresh as an inaugural

And, guaranteed, of course, for life, (No money back)
    Your loving wife
    Phyllis
While I was hanging around waiting for Cupid to inspire me today my brain grew numb & stupid and all the rhymes I’d been saving for ages, specially, grew heavy as paving Stones, and I thought Gee whiz, this won’t do, a Valentine should be light as a kiss Or a cake, & twice as sweet, fine grained as a feather In the wind, lovely as springtime weather, a heart’s a nice red, but a snuffle nose is not a rose, not a rose and a hacking cough ain’t music, so I’ll put away all fancy dancy & romancy ideas & simply say

I love you!

it’s as true and as good today as always, Phyllis 1960s
It’s surely not a dreadful fate to be a year past 38 but lovely to be 39 because it rhymes with wine & dine and thank you, I’m just feeling fine, crispy pickles in the brine, a heart-bespangled Valentine rosy fruits upon the vine—not necessarily a sign that you’ll be growing fat & warty next year when you get to forty and so I lay it on the line with (love) my dear because you’re (Mine)

Phyllis

[1960]
Don’t like rakish?
Don’t like sporty?
Don’t like fat? and don’t like warty?
When that’s all that rhymes with forty?

Cheer up! Think of dreams cloudspun and Summers running in the sun and trees and flowers and all the fun We’ll have with rhymes for Forty-one!

Your wife

[1961; see iii]
For Kelly

At 42 the drift
of the years flows faster but the race is not to the swift or the first one, but the laster

At 42 the toll of the years may seem weighty I’ll wait to condole with you at 4 & 80

Years rich with goods of love & laughter flowing—don’t count the woods while the tree’s green & growing

Your everloving
Phyllis

[1963]
FIRST PERSON DEMONSTRATIVE

I’d rather heave half a brick than say I love you, though I do I’d rather crawl in a hole than call you darling, though you are I’d rather wrench off an arm than hug you though it’s what I long to do I’d rather gather a posy of poison ivy than ask if you love me so if my hair doesn’t stand on end it’s because I never tease it and if my heart isn’t in my mouth it’s because it knows its place and if I don’t take a bite of your ear it’s because gristle gripes my guts and if you miss the message better get new glasses and read it twice

[PUBLISHED IN 1969]
It’s nice to have a crusty slice of bread a simple wish a steamy dish of stew

a cheerful face a place to lay my head a gal. of wine a Valentine and Y❤️U from your Wife and Crew

Bony Fingers

Kidding aside, dear, I couldn’t find Any kind Of heart-full card with words to rhyme with “Kelly” Except “jelly belly” Which you haven’t got Or “rakehelly”
Which you’re not Or “Nelly” (Who’s she?)
But gee
Whiz, I’m glad that words like “wine” and “dine” Wilt thou be “mine”
For you I “pine”
(And balsam), and lots of ❤❤❤❤❤ in a line
And all the cheerful things that make love shine Still rhyme with Valentine

your bony-fingered wife
For Kelly

O
it’s a speeding Kiss, it’s a lancing Love-Letter, a smirking French Letter, a Lightning-Streak hurled at the Heart,
it’s a Bolt to strike you Sky-Blue-Pink, it’s our Daily Bread, our Nightly Sleep, our Sex, our Scotch & Martinis, our touch of the Door-Post, our Sunrise and Evening Light, our Goings out & Comings Home, it’s our Curses & Blessings, our Lives & Loving, it’s

A Valentine!

from his eternally loving Wife: Phyllis 1970s
A BIRTHDAY FLIES
THE YEARS TELL LIES WHAT NEVER DIES IS PERMA[NENT]

LOVE
PHYLLIS

[TELEGRAM, 1972; see iii]
The Usual

when I talk of love if it makes your teeth ache sorry it does not pleure dans mon coeur comme il pleut sur la ville I drag my nails down my scabbed heart till it’s ridged as an Ashanti warrior’s face and forbidding say it is a ship registered under the Liberian flag riding its bilge, old rust & shifting oil it beats, it beats you’ve heard everything beats like a heart birds’ wings or engines, everyone takes the world’s pulse tell me what a heart beats like then? in fire a star

I know whose heart attends a strange measuring device a marvel of chronologic accuracy I set my clocks by, it is my pacemaker beats a yard apart, a fathom deep through its chest wall I swear I hear it say timeless, timeless my old scarred lug’s a blood veteran, stormbringer inharmonious organ fitted with pipes, bellows, wheezes, lubdubb and oh my workday love, my love my Monday love

[published in 1974]
For Kelly, 53 years +

Tonight as ever
I deliver my sleep into his arms.

Lovingly, Phyllis.

[1974]
To:
My Valentine, the Pres.:

A Valentine’s a love-shaped thought saved for a year’s one day like money buried in a pot — but crocks have walls of clay and vaults, of steel myself, I feel I’d rather be more profligate and spend the lot in living than save for one day’s giving for love’s a gift and not a debt no tax or tariff, gross or net and fiscally its statements send all punditry confounded:

no matter how much love you spend the interest’s still compounded!

From:
Your Valentine, the Sec.-Treas.

P
No need to tell it Sell it Yell it
From rooftops jot it On paper, blot it On blotters, bawl it Call it Doll it Up with laces, plot it Like a story, pot it Like Spam
Spread it with jam Weigh it by gram Swear it. By Damn!
You’ve got it!

from Yours truly

P.

(mystery)
for Kelly

this is the Ancient Order of the heart
a fleshly pump, the Queen of Metaphor: the heart of oak, the heart of gold, the core a scoundrel’s rotten to, the aching part of frustrate love, the target of the dart the organ that takes arms and goes to war against the head, the live red source of art —till it’s a scrap-paper hypocrisy a trashy truth that no-one will believe this Grand Medallion of an image; me, I never trifle with a Valentine because I always wear it on my sleeve when I say have a heart I mean take mine.

Phyllis

[insignia given with poem; see vi]
* well love, you got it or not if not it’s groan writhe scratch & throw stones got, it’s riding a tiger flesh balance between rib & stripe sway and lead from the powered head turn away fierce mortal breath, fang & tail flick

why not flense the creature, make out on its tame rug? ah, that tumping hangs out in another part of the dictionary love is riding a tiger a slide over blood and fired bone you and thin skin between the way you like it, and if one should ask what rough beast

you tell him, sweetheart tiger riding is love

[Published in 1974]
Dearest Kelly,

i thought I saw a Slice of Life fragrant with love and light i looked again and found that i was absolutely right!
Dear love, it’s full of spice!
    i cried:
let’s take another bite!

    your Valentine
    P.

1978
Dearest Kelly

May your days be mainly sunny (with light showers, for the garden)
and all your puns be funny & your arteries never harden
please accept our love & money (and for lateness, grant your pardon)

with love from all

P., L., M & J.

[1978]
why ring the changes on a rhyme
when the bell-clapper tongue is dumb and every word’s as old as Time and Time itself is moping-mum with dredging rhymes: and frozen numb embattled words all push & shove add two by two and cannot sum why look for rhyme, when you have love?

forever is a jangled chime and darling is a brittle crumb and sweetheart’s long beyond its prime and old undying’s time has come when all the songs are wearisome as broken clocks that cannot move beyond a dullard’s tick & hum look for no rhyme when you have love oh Prince! its act is kingdom-come, the fact of Heaven its deeds prove, its thought is new as light.

my sum is added. Rhymeless, I bring love.

P.
Dearest Kelly,

this is a leaf from a book,
a tree, a life that tells of lifelong love, deeper than a library of books, greater than a redwood forest my old love for you delivered freshly in this fragile envelope of old paper, but always new, ever renewed your everloving Valentine

Phyllis
Roses seem to wither in late autumn weather without caring if we’re apart or together.

It doesn’t slice the cabbage it doesn’t salt the stew it doesn’t mash the turnips if I love you.

If you love me it doesn’t calm the sea or crack an oak or flutter the wings of a flea.

But what love manufactures is good warm stuff & between you & me it’s enough!

Yours,
P.
Dear, when you ride a toboggan
wear this cap upon your noggin when you make the winter scene use it well to warm your bean if you travel far from home may it well protect your dome for woven in every thread are all my blessings on your head.

Love, P.
INTERLUDE
Great Valentines Through The Ages

CLEOPATRA to ANTONY
My dear, you’d have a valentine that’s sexy, hot, and scented the only thing that stops me, is —it hasn’t been invented

HELOISE to ABELARD
We’d live again those memories clear my heart with joy recalls if I but had my wishes, dear,
And you still had your balls

STELLA to SWIFT
My dear sweet Dean, for my Valentine I would prefer your heart conjoined to mine but if you cannot send it through the post then I suppose I’d like 1 silk apron
1 faience snuffbox & 2 silver buttonhooks the most

ELIZABETH to RALEIGH
Alas, sir Walter, sad to see you are so near to croak yet all you ever gave to me was one old muddy cloak

ELIZABETH BARRETT to R. BROWNING
Dear Robert, we shall never quarrel or fuss; to you, the trousers & to me the bonnets; labour division’s unity to us:
you get the monologues, I’ll take the sonnets.
ME TO YOU

When everything is said & done — and boy, has it been done & said!
my love is world and stars and sun & hand & heart & head & bed.

With love,

P.
Suitable Limericks

1. The world is a desperate place that’s not garnished with velvet & lace but its corners of night turn to arches of light by the warmth of the love in a face

2. Romance seems a delicate flower that might wilt in a wind or a shower this perennial breed is deceptive: its seed is the love that gives Romance the power

3. To produce the supreme Valentine choose a couple as old as good wine when the lifetime they share brews a loving as rare as the blessedest fruit of the vine

Yours & Mine.
P.
1980s
A Valentine for Kelly

Although we have no lordly [crest]
I find no cause to grieve
I’d crown your head with [roses]
Dear, if I had some to weave,

Till [rabbits] give up lettuce
You can count upon my love And whatsoever road you go, I’m with you hand in [glove]

Because I think you’re nice as [pie]
In prose as well as rhyme;
And so I’ll blow the [horn] for you, Until the end of [time]

From Phyllis, Leo, Marg and ...

[words in square brackets are pictures; see iv–v]
We may be frazzled, dizzy, dazed
Maybe we’re cracked, but we’re not crazed!
And if we’re sore, it’s not at heart
And broke as well, but not apart

We groan! So what? We still don’t whine It’s why I’m yours, it’s why you’re mine
A hale and hearty Valentine!

↓

1980
Dearest Kelly

When every verse is tried and trite
and whispers on the phone so weakly hint the loving light what can be said or shown?
I keep your pillow warm at night in bed, beneath my own

Your Valentine

1981 Valentine Cowboy

for C. Gotlieb

Con Amore
Molto vivace

P. Gotlieb: Op. primum Et ultimatum 1982

1.
I was reading old letters this morning ⋆ ⋆ And Valentine hearts fat and red ⋆ ⊪ ⋆ ⋆
And I hoped that no love-thought a-borning ⋆ ⋆ Got withered unspoken, unsaid ⋆ ⋆ ⋆

2.
I can’t make much music with fingers ⋆ ⋆
My voice spins the dead in their graves ⋆ ⋆ ⋆ ⋆
But I never had much need of singers ⋆ ⋆ ⋆
When our love fills the clefs and the staves ⋆ ⋆ ⋆

3.
So I keep writing words that I know you ⋆ ⋆ Will find kind of trite and outworn ⋆ ⋆ ⋆ ⋆
But if you keep your eyes open they’ll show you ⋆ ⋆
A love that is sweetly newborn ⋆ ⋆ ⋆

4. chorus These Valentine hearts aren’t for breaking ⋆ ⋆ Like oaks clove from lightnings above ⋆ ⋆ ⋆ ⋆
But to wear in all weathers by making ⋆ ⋆ The ice melt its teeth on our love ⋆ ⋆ ⋆

ad libitum, ad infinitum

1982
For Father’s Day

Dear Kelly, I wish you free from Cares
And forty Thousand Silver Hairs To match an Eight and Ninety Years Of Beers and Cheers, not Tears and Fears Of Warmth and Wit and Life and lots Of fat red Hearts and Gold (in Pots) Rainbows and Moons and Shiny Cars Computers, multicoloured Stars And everything you love and praise For sixty-two more FATHER’S DAYS

Phyllis
[pot of cookies]

[JUNE 16, 1982; see iii]
A ❤️ for K.

O Valentine, O Valentine
in passing years the spirits entwine to each the tree, to each the vine my Valentine, Dear Valentine though flowers shrivel, branches crack frost whitens earth, cloud turns the sky black the red heart is the Spring’s ensign O Valentine, my Valentine

We breed no thrilling nightingale no peacock spreads a starry tail the humble sparrows on the lines sing songs of love for Valentines

The years go faster than they come and lips for want of words may turn dumb but Love speaks subtle, swift and fine from eye to heart, O Valentine

P ❤️

1983
For Kelly

A Valentine’s theme may be raveled and worn perhaps old Cupid’s feathers seem ragged and torn his arrows look blunted his bow warped and stunted such sentiments gather the nettles of scorn but mountains may scar while their beauty stays grand and green shoots spring yearly from mold-covered land so my words might still sing like the streams of the spring as hearts quicken freshly when hand touches hand no matter how tattered the verse and the line (as a purse full of money need never be fine) old songs still find grace in the memory’s embrace and a heart’s love need say only:

   Dear Valentine

   From Phyllis

1984 and counting A few thought-I-saws and a lot of love

① I thought I saw a Valentine as dreary as the sky I looked again and found that it was something in my eye a blink, a kiss, a wish, my love the blackest clouds defy

② you look at life and feel too well the winter’s iron claw love, look again and then recall the oldest living law: that all renews, in grass or flesh somewhere, somehow, in awe

③ I do not see the universe in rumty-tumty rhymes I shake them out and try them on searching for fair designs burnished with love, richer than gold these are my Valentines

Phyllis
❤️

❤️ Erratum: not “rhymes” but “lines”

1985 Kelly

I went to find a rebus
a riddle round and rolling I only found a moebius (I picked it up while strolling)

I saw some □ □ □ and rang them

I found some ♩ ♩ ♩ and sang them

I found a ☀
It did not fitt with all my love for you in it then by and by, my 🟢 Eyes found ✡✡✡ and ☧ ☧ ☧ and 🌸 🌸 🌸 along with miscellaneous things to improve the hours: 🎨 🎨 🎨 ☑ ☑ ☑ they did not 🍋 my love for you not lemons, bars, nor cherries for we and love go 🕶 in glove, and sweetheart, it’s the 🌸 🌸 🌸

Your Love

Phyllis

1986
My dear, I hope this Valentine moves you to rejoice & shine beaming when you see that your face gleams upon a brilliant surface, and reflects my love that glows and blesses you from head to toes.

P.
For Kelly

A Valentine

New love is Like a sapling with delicate Quivering leaves
That move at the slightest Touch of air
And bow down helplessly Under a great Windstorm

Old love is An ancient maple, an oak, a redwood With roots as deep as The center of the world That only the greatest Earthquake or the most powerful hurricane Could wrench away Or even greater
The banyan that drops roots endlessly from its Reaching branches to grasp the earth, the world And never dies

From your old lover

Phyllis
Twenty-seven Views of Forty Years

1. Eating snails at LaChaumière
2. months of engagement
3. when you learned I was pregnant with Leo 4. the really hot honeymoon drive from LA to San Francisco
5. homecoming after seven weeks away in Manchester with the Ferranti
6. the Avenue of Cryptomerias in Nikko
7. a croissant breakfast in Paris
8. hearts of palm in Rio de Janeiro
9. both our mothers finding fears of poverty groundless
10. Bob-Lo Island on a trip to Detroit 11. hurting from Leo, Margaret, Jane, 12. but never forgetting love and pleasure from them either 13. twenty thousand burned-brown faces in Nanjing
14. upside-down house during renovation
15. both of us lasting through some pretty bad seasons
16. Hong Kong Harbor and a thousand bobbing junks
17. thirty years of roses seen from the patio
18. the stars from the deck of the Amerikanis
19. the Jupiter Symphony in the Rocky Mountains
20. a New York Martini
21. the Fonda del Sol
22. Hide and Seek at the MOMA
23. first night any time of being away
24. coming home after any time of being away
25. home anywhere
26. love anywhere
27. us anywhere

For Kelly
from Phyllis 1990s
for Kelly

Dear Love, I have run out of rhymes after writing all those lines of Valentines so many times all of the moonshine, May wine, Cupid’s darts so sweetly wreathed around with fat red hearts all of the moons so bright you’d never believe them loving hearts so true no one could ever deceive them all of that jazz so hot so many words well wrought for me and you and all of it true my words have never come cheap and every one is yours to keep my golden-souled my never-grow-old Prince

beside the waves that lap above the pistons that tap among the sea-ring islands where the dancers clap in the lands of pineapples, mangos, limes
dear love, I have run out of rhymes

your love

Phyllis
70, for Kelly

Slipping years are little measures of an Ever deepening life that Values loving, always grows in Ever widening ripples of awareness,
Never wanes, nor diminishes the value of a Trust in living love, it is good as a green Youth where years are little measures only

Phyllis

[1991]
For Kelly

HAPPY HAPPY

· BIRTHDAY · · BIRTHDAY ·
· MIRTHDAY ·
· BIRTHDAY ·
· MYTHDAY · · EARTHDAY · · YOURDAY · · MYDAY · · THISDAY’S ·

· FRIDAY! ·

Sloppily but lovingly
Phyllis

1992
For Kelly

Rocky Valentine

♥

LOVE EVOLves like planets turning ever to the burning sun scattered dust made whole in turning atoms burning to be one see God tap them and they run!
LOVE makes one and one be one

♥

LOVE is part of rEVOLution LOVE’s the one that turns the sun LOVE’s no problem or solution
LOVE makes one and one be one LOVE and LOVE make two be one turning in the burning sun

♥

from your loving Phyllis

♥

1992
For Kelly

UNIVERSAL VALENTINE

Sperm and Ovum songs of Joy longing years create this Boy

sweet blood-pulsing veins entwine to bind together life’s sweet line loving ever yours and mine

two hearts make one our Valentine

From your eternally loving wife
Phyllis

1993
For Kelly

Seventy-two looks sexy on you

Lovingly
Phyllis

[1993]
For Kelly

V is the initial of your Virtues: Vision, Values, Vitality, Vivacity, also Velocity
A signifies our Affection, All I know about you, and our wonderful Apartment L for Levity because though we’ve got Lots of Love we can always use a good Laugh E stands for Everything you’ve done to give me the happiness I wouldn’t have had without you N is for nights of loving and the pistachio Nuts you bring for the martiNis we both enjoy T means the hundreds of Times and rhymes I made to Tell you These old gold standards
I is for Images & memories of pleasure, Insights ever expanding, and Intimacies N means Nothing but love and Nothing better, and E is for Everything Else, Ethan, Everlasting, Effervescence, last in first lovÉ

Yours ever
Phyllis

1994
Heart O’ Mine: A Soft-Shoe Shuffle

A can stand for Anything that makes you smile a while B is for the Brightness of that smile (too rare when doused by Care)

D may be Discouragements, but Dare to say they’ll fade away, so Efferesce & Energize, and lift the brows of those blue Eyes For not so Far away’s a better day For you & me, It rhymes with Gee, I’m glad I’ve Got you for my Valentine O Heart o’ Mine!

when I feel way low down you cheer me Just to have you round & near me, Kid you give a Lot of Love & Loving’s everything to Me, O heart of Mine!

Nobody ever loved before the way I love you more and more Oh Oh Oh, the chorus is: Heart o’ mine!

I’m Putting down some Cupid’s darts:  ♡♡♡
dear Monarch, from your Queen of Hearts I know this Ragtime Rhapsody is running kind of long but I don’t care when one word more will fit into my Song That’s new & True

And loving yoU O Valentine

my Wonderful ever so eXtra special Yeah Yeah, You
Zap me, kid!

!♡
♡ Valentine!♡

Your ever, forever-loving Phyllis

1995
For Kelly

Easy Aces, regal Kings know their places in the scheme of things

Courtly Queens and jumping Jacks strut their scenes in the shuffling Packs

You and I will join their throng and live with joy our whole lives long!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

Lovingly as always Phyllis

1995
70, for Kelly

Slipping years are little measures on an Ever deepening life that
Values loving, always grows in Ever widening ripples of awareness,
Never wanes, nor diminishes the value of a
Trust in living love, it is good as a green
Youth where years are little measures only

+5, for Kelly everlastingly

Finally a cornucopia of babies tumbling Into your heart and a garland of praises Validating everything you longed and strove for:
Enduring love and a footstep into the future

= 75

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

From your always loving and grateful-to-have-you

Phyllis

[1996]
For Kelly

What is there left to say after so much time? revolutions have risen and ebbed and empires fallen into scattered fragments, children have grown tall and established small dynasties and after so many words and diagrams poets, artists, jewellers and schoolyard children have filigreed, declaimed, scribbled and sung bright burning hearts and candied melodies when love is not cartoon or scribble or even the word but the passion beneath the quotidian touches, for one day, one more day, one more

as ever more

Phyllis
For Kelly

One More Soft Shoe

What is there left to say after the years months days and hours of loving time with messages of flowers and hearts that rhyme with Cupid and his darts, with Junes and moons and dreamy tunes and lace and candy curlicues it’s all been said if all’s been said and done and told that doesn’t make the message old, but fresh and new as ever was

and all that there’s left to say is

I love you

Phyllis

❤️
For Kelly

All of my rhymes
are worn and old love’s always new and good as gold so, not to garnish or refine

I am your gift and you are mine

Happy Birthday!

Lovingly Phyllis

1997
For Kelly

How do I love you? more ① than the Earth loves the Sun ② than the honeybee loves pollen ③ than the bear loves honeycomb ④ than dynamite loves fire ⑤ or a Welshman loves a choir ⑥ more than the nestling loves the nest ⑦ or the suckling baby loves the breast ⑧ more than a table needs four legs ⑨ much more than an omelet needs eggs ⑩ than mushrooms love the damp & dark ⑪ than cats love sleep, ⑫ than dogs love bark ⑬ than pens love ink, ⑭ than I love ink and all that love's for just one day! just think how much is on the way tomorrow, from your Valentine

\[\text{lovingly, Phyllis}\]

1998
For Kelly

77 seventy-seven the product of two small primes one big Prime to me

Happy Birthday!
Always loving

Phyllis

[1998]
for Kelly

I love you better than the stars and the sun because you keep me warm by day and by night.

I love you better than Browning’s poems because his words are on the page and yours are living and breathing.

I love you better than whiskey and gin because they confuse and you clarify.

I love you better than paper and ink because they are flat and you are three-dimensional.

I love you even better than love because you have given me both love and a life.

Phyllis

1999
For Kelly

SEVENTY-EIGHT IS FOUR TIMES NINETEEN, NOW YOU ARE FOUR NINETEEN-YEAR-OLDS!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

From your loving wife

Phyllis

[1999]
For Kelly

As long as I love you Old love is still new As twilight is still day

As long as you love me
The clouds are drained of grey Dolphins dance in the sea And leaves burst from every tree

From your passionate old woman

Phyllis
Dearest Kelly

May your days be mainly sunny (with light showers, for the garden)
and all your puns be funny
& your arteries never harden
please accept our love & money
(and for lateness, grant your pardon)

with love from all

P., L., M & J.
A song

I’m going to walk down the street on my fidgety feet and I’ll be wearing a smile that’s as wide as a mile I’m going to sing you a song that’s just as broad as it’s long and then I’ll knit you a rhyme you can wear all the time right next to your skin don’t even have to tuck it in ’cause you’re my Valentine until the sun don’t shine

you’re going to walk down the street with a smile on your feet and when you quicken your pace it’ll climb up to your face you’ll let my melody wrap you in harmony you’ll nestle into my song and all the long sunshiny day things will all go your way with angels’ kisses and roses and wine ’cause I’m your Valentine

Phyllis
For Kelly

For the Giver
live long life!
For the Lover
Here's your Wife And forever loving true dearest Giver
I thank you.

Phyllis
What? You’re 81 years old?
Congratulations!!!

YOUR HAIR’S STILL GROWING!!
YOUR TEETH AREN’T FALLING!!
YOUR EYES ARE STILL BRIGHT BLUE!!
YOU HAVE THE WHOLE WORLD IN YOUR ARMS

DEAR MAN, AND I LOVE YOU!!!

Happy birthday!!!

Phyllis

2002
Dearest Kelly,

Here is your annual accounting of my love for you:

A: Counting the ways I love you:
   1. Truly
   2. Deeply
   3. Forever

B: Counting the days I have loved you:
   54 years ................................................................. 19,710 6.5 months .............................................................. 168 Leap year days ......................................................... 13

   ________

   Total .............................................................................. 19,891

Authentic value of this portfolio: ...more than money can buy

Lovingly as ever

Phyllis

Keep this statement in your Assets file for handy reference
For Kelly

Every year
I love you more Glowingly, whole-Heartedly
The days go by but You and I
-
Take them and Wring out some joy
Over and ever again, so—

HAVE A HAPPY BIRTHDAY!!!!!

your everloving Phyllis

2003 For the Birthday Boy, Kelly

If sweet was sour and salt was sweet
The ocean made of cream of wheat And centipedes had fourteen feet
I’d live with you and be your love

Though horses flew and angels screamed
The world was something dragons dreamed And nothing was just what it seemed I’d live with you and be your love

If trees were grey and roses brown And earth was up and heaven down And life a bitch and God a clown I’d still be yours and you my love

Though eighty-three’s not thirty-eight Love’s always fresh, it has no date
The children laugh, the kisses wait
And I am yours, you are my love

From your everloving
Phyllis

[2004] 1 Your blue eyes will turn brown like mine

2 and roosters crow at half-past nine

3 Roses will make the richest wine

4 and you still be my Valentine

P.

2005
Dearest Kelly

I spent hours to write a poem for your eighty-fourth birthday but my efforts went for nothing because this year is like the mast’s peak of a great ship with the sail vast and billowing over the sea wind or the summit of a tower built with mighty stones and little moss so please accept my homely haiku and endless love forever more

Eight-four and onward!

Your everloving
Phyllis

2005
My love when with you or apart
Has blessed you from the dayspring’s start As whiskey basks in battered casks Your love does in my dented heart.

❤️ Phyllis
For Kelly

If all the world was good as gold and no one sickened or grew old and angels sang from star to star telling how wonderful we are and water tasted more like wine we might not need a Valentine— but in this old mixed bag of lines with age and pain that cut like knives love is our wealth, our gold, our wine though spoken in this inky line: You are my life, my Valentine

Phyllis

2007
For Kelly, Dear Valentine ✫✫✫✫✫ I may not have much poetry left for you but I still have lots of

LOVE  LOVE

LOVE  LOVE  LOVE

LOVE  LOVE

LOVE

From your everloving
Phyllis
For Kelly

With years my poems flew away
And left me in a light of day
So hard and harsh I shook with fear But—gave the gift of once a year
The blessing of the Valentine Where I can spill the words like wine
So filled with love in every line That you may drink them one by one—I swear they never will be done...

Phyllis
Your forever lover.

2009 ENCORES
for Kelly

A

Valentine

Any fool can love in spring and summer
Love is apple blossom and new wine But when frost has crinkled summer’s glamour Then a lover needs a valentine
A valentine
Well-aged love is rich and steeply flavoured In a life that’s deeply loving, ever Winter’s bitter light can still be savored Every day’s a good one for a lover from your loving wife, Phyllis

For Kelly

C is for caring and
A is for always L is for loving V for vitality
I is for insight and N is for never mind anything else, it’s your birthday!

G is for sheer goodness and O how I love you T is terrific and L is for a Lot more love, Isn’t it great? Yes and E is forEver Blessed be your Birthdays!

Phyllis

2000
for Kelly

Three Haiku

1 Amor

at night when I lie down beside you your touch e-лектrifies me still

2 Vincit

when your eyelashes brush my cheekbone I swear this must last forever

3 Omnia

what are clocks and time? when I write it down it is forever, for you from your always loving

Phyllis

1997 For Kelly, a Haiku

One fresh year coming Shining like gold and brimming With my love for you

Phyllis

Happy Birthday!!!!!
Dear Sir

I purr and sheathe my claws as Lovingly as Nature’s Laws allow.

The lot of Woman and Man bound in the knot that’s Gordian is never neat, but Leaves untied black snarls of anger, hate, and pride inseparable from the rope and indestructible as Hope that must be smoothed and kept in place to add by contrast light and grace to love

If like a tom and tab we sometimes hiss and scratch and jab I’m still from here to Heaven or Hell your favourite

Mehitabel
A gift

Brilliant am I Really, truly, what’s Unruly Smooth I, newly Happy Birthday! use me duly!
EPILOGUE
Kelly Loves Phyllis in Six Weeks and Sixty Years

Calvin (Kelly) Gotlieb

Nineteen Forty Seven Chamber music concert Great looking blonde   A poet!
Perfect date   Ten times Six weeks   The Cosmos of Conversation Will you marry me?
Can’t now   Finishing school
Ninety Forty Nine
Father dies   Dating again
Yes, I’ll marry you

Nine months later Baby Leo   Four days old Daughters   Margaret, Jane Travel the world
Europe Israel Brazil China Japan Australia Yosemite Mexico Eighteen books   Poetry, Science Fiction Blessed grandchildren
Sixty sweet years

Gone at eighty three She Graced This World And Imagined Others

---

1 See web.cs.toronto.edu/people/profiles/gotlieb.htm 2 See marriage photo front cover 3 See Wikipedia
4 Google “Toronto Star Valentine’s Day article Department of Computer Science”
Phyllis Fay Bloom was born in Toronto on May 25, 1926, to parents whose family owned a movie chain in Toronto. Between obtaining a B.A. at the University of Toronto in 1948 and an M.A. in 1950, she married Calvin Carl (Kelly) Gotlieb in June 1949. Born in Toronto on March 27, 1921, Kelly earned his B.A. (1942), M.A. (1944), and Ph.D. (1947) in physics at Toronto, where he joined the faculty in 1949. They have three children, Leo Ronald, Jane Elizabeth (Lipson), and Margaret Susan. Leo initially followed Kelly into computer science, and is now a management consultant in Toronto, where Margaret also lives; Jane is the Albert W. Smith Professor of Chemistry at Dartmouth College in New Hampshire. Phyllis raised this family as Kelly pioneered the field of computers and earned respect as the father of computer science in Canada. He has been honoured as a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada and the Association for Computing Machinery, and with the Order of Canada (1996). Phyllis returned to her love of writing in the early 1960s, publishing five books of poetry between 1962 and 1978. Her collection Ordinary, Moving won a Governor General’s Literary Award nomination in 1970. As her poetry grew, it overlapped with her international fame as an author of superbly-written speculative fiction: a dozen novels and short-story collections, from Sunburst in 1964 to Birthstones in 2007, came from her pen. She won the inaugural Prix Aurora Award for best novel in 1982 for A Judgement of Dragons (1980); and the Sunburst Award, an annual prize for Canadian fantasy and science-fiction authors, is named after her first novel, for she is affectionately regarded as the mother of Canadian science fiction. Kelly and Phyllis enjoyed traveling and other activities together, however, in later years they took particular pleasure in their four grandchildren (Ethan, Jacob, Oren and Rachel). Phyllis Gotlieb continued writing until her sudden death at 83 in Toronto on July 14, 2009. She was interred at Pardes Shalom Cemetery, Maple, Ontario. Kelly continues to remain active on his own in their sunny apartment in downtown Toronto.
Phyllis Loves Kelly sounds like the title of a romantic movie. Instead it is the title of this wonderful and witty collection of love poems and occasional verses composed by Phyllis Gotlieb for her husband Kelly. They mark sixty years of anniversaries and Valentine days. The sentiments expressed come directly from the heart, and they have the effect of allowing the reader to eavesdrop on a long and happy marriage with lots of love (and maybe even a little lust!). Phyllis Gotlieb was a poet noted for the playful brilliance of language and imagery (as well as the author of outstanding science fiction). C.C. (Kelly) Gotlieb is one of Canada’s most respected and renowned computer scientists.

–John Robert Colombo

One of my favourite memories of Phyllis was at a poetry reading at the Ad Astra convention in Toronto, many years ago. Her beloved husband Kelly was there to listen, and she read a (somewhat cranky) love poem* that was clearly written for him. But Kelly was daydreaming, or had dozed off, and she gave him a severe nudge and what could only be described as a Look when she was done! He sat up with a start, and the whole room cracked up.

–Sandra Kasturi

[*'First Person Demonstrative']